

2.7 PvP Quest Changes

PvP Quests, in particular those which offer Platinum Medal rewards, have received a boost in 2.7. Most of the Platinum Medal Quests in Balaurea can now be repeated additional times, and offer better rewards.

In addition, Veille and Mastarius, the agents of Kaisinel and Marchutan, have received some fine tuning, and now award more loot to those who assist with their defense.

Veille and Mastarius

The original Blessing to the Agent and To Stand Against the Elyos Quests have been changed.

Blessing to the Agent

→ Inggison's Darkest Hour

To Stand Against the Elyos

→ Aid to the Agent

While the premise of these Quests remains the same (use the Aether Concentrator to aid Veille or Mastarius), the rewards have changed. Players now receive Veille's Royal Gift or Mastarius's Royal Gift for completing these Quests.

See below for a complete list of items from the Royal Gift:

Daily/Group Quest Changes

The Daily/Group Platinum Medal Quests from native Fortresses in Balaurea can now be repeated additional times. In addition, each player in the Group can loot the Quest items dropped by monsters, allowing for faster completion.

For Elyos players, Quests can be acquired at the Altar of Avarice and Temple of Scales in Inggison when held by the Elyos.

For Asmodian players, Quests can be acquired at the Vorgaltem Citadel and Crimson Temple in Gelkmaros when held by the Asmodians.

Asmodian Platinum Medal Quests (for Asmodians)

Alliance and League Quests

The Alliance and League Quests in Inggison and Gelkmaros now each offer 2 Platinum Medals per completion (increased from 1).

Speak to Moras at the Hanarkand Observation Post in Inggison, or Linar at the Vorgaltem Scout Post in Gelkmaros to acquire the Quests.

Spy/Daily Quests

The Spy/Daily Quests in Inggison and Gelkmaros now offer 3 Platinum Medals per completion (increased from 1).

Players can only accept the Spy/Daily Quests if their race has captured a Fortress in the opposing race's region of Balaurea (ie. Asmodians can only accept Quests from Kirhua if the Asmodians have captured the Temple of Scales in Inggison).
